Moscow Students Mock At All World's Religions

MOSCOW.—By The Associated Press.—The Young Communists, observing the Christmas of the Julian calendar Sunday, launched their widely heralded attack upon heaven in a grotesque carnival procession that was a mockery of the world's great religions.

As American college boys make merry after a football victory, so thousands of Russian students did a gigantic snake dance around a great bonfire, the kindling of which brought the day of revelry to a close.

Burn Devils in Effigy

The climax of the celebration came, however, when the young people gleefully tossed into the flames straw and paper figures representing the deities of the Christian, Mohammedan, Jewish and Buddhist religions.

The Russian Christmas has been especially chosen by the Young Communists as the occasion for shattering by mockery the ancient Yuletide story and the traditions which their organization holds as "religious myths." Hence the procession that threaded the streets of Moscow held few reminders of the old time Christmas celebrations of the Russian church.

Burlesque Star of East

Flaming stars of red, burlesques of the star of Bethlehem, were hoisted aloft at the head of the parade, followed by posters and banners upon which were depicted cartoons of deities and saints. No icons, no reminders of the church processions that in the past have marked the advent of the Christmas festival, were in evidence.

There was music and singing aplenty, but the songs were jarring parodies of the carols of the Russian church.

Dignitaries Caricatured

Goblin-like burlesques of the gods of all peoples alternated with motor trucks upon which rode students and young women dressed as caricatures of religious dignitaries, while placards proclaimed such communist doctrines as "Religion is the opiate of the people," and "Man made God in Man's image, not God man in his." One truck carried an infant wearing a red cap. He was placarded as "Young Communism."

Children Forced to Join

Lost in their long coats and army caps, young children from the orphanages and institutions tramped through the snow, led by their teachers, to watch the bonfire which their communist elders had decreed should take the place of the chimney-side vigil in wait for Santa Claus.

There were no disorders; neither was there any attempt to prevent regular Christmas services. But here and there a street beggar, evidently oblivious of the travesty, wandered through the crowd whispering "Aime in the name of Christ on Christmas day."

Half of the remainder of the estate is to go to the mission board of the Methodist Episcopal church in the missionary district of Kin Kiang Si, $1,000 goes to the "adopted son," Hui Kue Yuen.

MINNESOTA SEEKS RIGHT-OF-WAY FOR TRUNK HIGHWAY 3

Meeting Thursday at Dakota to Obtain Settlements With Property Owners

LA CRESCENT-LAMOILLE ROAD CONSTRUCTION STARTS SOON

La Crosse Good Road Enthusiasts Invited to Attend Meeting

THE first steps to widen and reconstruct the west river road from La Crosse to Lamoille, Minn., will be taken by the Minnesota highway department next Thursday morning at Woodmen hall, Dakota, when the highway department will seek to obtain the required right-of-way from property owners along both sides of the proposed highway.

La Crosse Invited, Too

Good road enthusiasts from La Crosse are urged to attend the meeting by W. R. Tucker, right-of-way engineer of the Minnesota highway department, and host for the construction of Minnesota Trunk Highway No. 3. In a letter to all property owners on the La Crescent-Lamoille road, Mr. Tucker writes:

"The Minnesota highway department contemplates the construction of Trunk Highway No. 3, between La Crosse and La Crescent, Minn., in the near future. Before a contract may be let for this work, it is necessary that the state obtain the required right-of-way.

"In order to facilitate this work, I have made arrangements to meet you, together with all other interested property owners, at the Woodmen hall, Dakota, Minnesota, Thursday morning, January 11, 1923, at ten o'clock.

To Road Movie

"During the course of our negotiations, interesting motion pictures will be shown to you, including films which show modern methods of highway construction.

"In view of the fact that it will be late in the day before all settlements are made, the Lakota Community club will serve a noon-day luncheon to you without cost.

"Let us hope that a just, fair and equitable settlement will be made with you all. As we are to enter into a legal contract with you, it will be necessary that you bring your husband or wife with you."

NEGRO QUARTER IN FLORIDA TOWN IS BURNED BY WHITES

Rosewood Quiet Following Race Disturbances; Jesse Hunter Still at Large

ROSEWOOD, Fla.—Rosewood was quiet Monday following the racial disturbances of the last few days in which seven persons were killed as the result of a search by officers and citizens' parties for Jesse Hunter, a negro, wanted for an alleged attack on a young white woman at Summer last Monday. Officers are still without a clue as to the whereabouts of Hunter.

Officers are inclined to believe that the burning of 12 houses, all that were left of the negro quarter of Rosewood on Sunday afternoon, marks the end of the racial disturbances.

The negroes whose houses were fired are still taking refuge in nearby woods. The houses were burned by a mob of white men while a crowd looked on but no one could be found who would say that he saw the houses burned, according to county officials.

The burning on Sunday afternoon came as a sequel to the previous destruction of a large part of the negro section and the clashes between white men and negroes in which the fatalities occurred.

Two white men were killed in the conflicts and five negroes fell victims, two of the negroes being shot to death in a rain of bullets on a dwelling in which the blacks barricaded themselves, and the other three being slain at different times.

TROLLEY AND AUTO COLLIDE THREE HURT

Five Men in Ford Sedan Collide With North Side Car at Sixteenth and Jackson Early Sunday

ONTARIO MEN IN ACCIDENT TAKEN TO GRANDVIEW HOSPITAL

Orvis Collins, Stewart Gschwenber and A. H. Hutchinson are injured

FIVE men in a Ford sedan, four from Ontario and the other from Cashion, were involved in an accident early Sunday morning when a north side street car and the auto collided at Sixteenth and Jackson streets about 12:30 in the morning, ruining the auto and injuring three of the Ontario men.

Three Injured

The injured were:

Orvis Collins—deep gash cut in face.

A. H. Hutchinson—scalp wound.

The above three men were treated by Dr. Anderson at the Grandview hospital shortly after the smash. The names of the other two men were not learned, although police reported that the star license number credited the ownership of the auto to A. F. Luetke, Ontario.

The accident was reported to Central police station by Motorman John Harrier of the street car which collided with the auto. The Ford was traveling west on Jackson street, and the street car was going north on Sixteenth street.

Both rear wheels of the sedan were broken and the body badly crumpled up. The Olsen and Phillips wrecker dragged the car into the garage, supporting the rear end, the front trailing on two wobbly front wheels.

The three injured men were taken to the Grandview hospital in the street car after the accident, the car switching at Sixteenth and Main streets, and unloading the men at the hospital door, Dr. Anderson said.

Twelve stitches were necessary to be taken in the face wound of Collins, Collins also complained of an injured elbow. Gschwenber sustained a small laceration in his left cheek and left hand. Hutchinson, believed to have been the driver of the car, suffered a scalp wound. All of the men were able to leave the hospital shortly after their treatment.

Two cars, the owners of which are not known, collided at Seventh and Main streets Saturday night.

BABSON MAN TO TALK AT MEETING WEDNESDAY NOON

The Babson Statistical organization of Waukegan, Mass., an institution known throughout the United States, has completed its survey on business outlook and is going to present it at the noon luncheon on Wednesday of this week at the chamber.

L. L. Newton of Milwaukee, manager of the Babson organization, is going to La Crosse armed with data to present to the people conditions as they are and what they are going to be during the coming year. Mr. Newton will be prepared to answer any questions and present accurate information upon which their opinions are based.

Mr. Newton comes to the chamber highly recommended as a forceful speaker and his talk on business outlook for 1923 will be well worth while.

President Fisher said this morning that the chamber has made a great start with the noon luncheons for 1923.

The ventilating system has made the room much more pleasant and many members who heretofore remained away on account of the dense smoke will attend regularly.

BIG MERCHANTS DINNER TONIGHT FISK WILL TALK

Preparations are being made at the Chamber of Commerce for a large number of merchants and business men at a regular monthly meeting of the retailers tonight at 6:15.

Chairman Burrows stated today that the bureau had been very fortunate in securing James W. Fisk, merchandising counsel for the Milwaukee Journal, to speak to the retailers this evening. "Mr. Fisk is the type of speaker we have waited for sometime, and I believe much valuable information is going to be given by Mr. Fisk," said Mr. Burrows.

We are making our night meetings short and snappy, beginning promptly at 6:15 and adjourning at 8 o'clock. However, if anyone wants to hold a conference after the meeting pertaining to any phase of merchandising or to ask any questions of Mr. Fisk, this will be arranged for.

I know that Mr. Fisk is going to give us valuable information dealing with our own problems, and we expect a large attendance tonight," continued Mr. Burrows.

HERMAN WHITLAND INJURED IN FALL FROM NEW GARAGE

Suffers Broken Leg and Injured Back in Fall Saturday Morning at Fourth and King

Herman Whitland, 314 Gillette street, was seriously injured about ten o'clock Saturday morning when he fell from the new garage at Fourth and King streets, on which he was working. A heavy timber fell upon him, after he had fallen to the ground. He was rushed to the St. Francis hospital where it was found that his right leg was crushed, three bones being broken. In addition he suffered an injury to his back and it is feared that he also sustained internal injuries.

According to the report given out by members of his family Monday morning he suffered considerably from the pain of the injuries Saturday night and Sunday, but was resting more easily on Monday morning.

U. S. CHECKS UP ON LIQUOR SHIPPED TO FOREIGN EMBASSIES

WASHINGTON.—A close check has been inaugurated by federal prohibition authorities on liquor shipments consigned to foreign embassies and legations here with a view to determining whether disproportionate supplies are being brought through the American customs to these favored destinations.

WASHINGTON.—Exports of wheat from the United States during the week ending January 6, aggregated 1,578,000 bushels according to figures made public Monday by the commerce department in its first weekly announcement covering exports of the principal commodities.

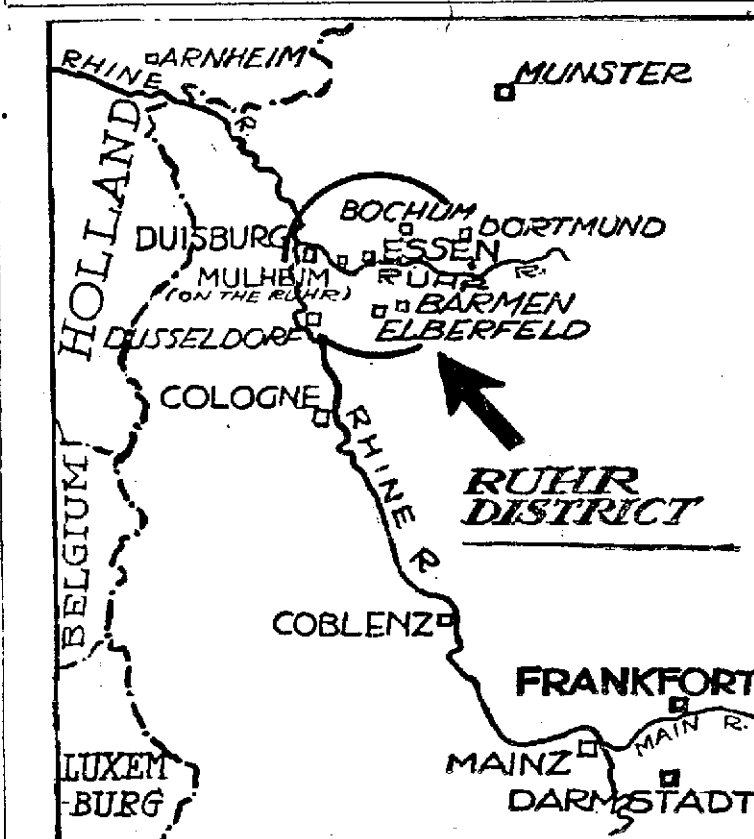

CLEAN UP NEW YORK

WASHINGTON.—Stringent application of the "Padlock" provisions of the prohibition laws are to be invoked in an effort further to clean up the liquor situation in New York. It was said Monday that a number of nationally known public houses were included in the list, prepared by Acting State Director Jewell for observation.

COURT RULES FOR CURTIS COMPANY IN FEDERAL SUIT

BRITAIN WANTS WAR DEBT SETTLEMENT ON TERMS THAT WON'T DISTURB TRADE BASIS

WASHINGTON.—Great Britain wants a fair business settlement of her five billion dollar war debt to the United States on such terms as will produce the least possible disturbance in the trade relations of the two countries, Stanley Baldwin, the British chancellor of the exchequer, declared today in an address before the joint meeting of the British and American debt funding commissions.

"We are not here to ask for favors or to impose on generosity," said Mr. Baldwin. "We want a fair business settlement, a square deal, a settlement that will secure for America the repayment to the last cent of those credits which the United States government established in America for us, their associates in the war."

Mr. Baldwin's address was in reply to one of welcome by Secretary Mellon, chairman of the American commission, who expressed particular appreciation of the courtesy of the British government in having designated as its delegates men so distinguished.

Seek Justice to Both Sides

The treasury secretary assured the British representatives that the American commissioners were no less sensible than themselves to the virtual necessity of effecting a definite settlement on a basis entirely just to both. He added that the prompt payment by Great Britain of one hundred million dollars of interest during the last three months pending a final arrangement was to his mind conclusive proof of the right spirit of financial integrity which he was proud to say had always animated both of the two great English-speaking nations.

In his reply Mr. Baldwin said: "We have come with the express intention of repaying our debt and it is owing to the practical difficulties of making international payments that we are about to consult with you in order to accomplish the end which we both have in view."

World's Biggest Deal

"We meet today under extraordinary circumstances. We meet to settle the largest single financial transaction, I believe, between two friendly nations in the history of the world. We are here to arrange the terms of the payment of the British debt to the United States. That was contracted in a common cause.

"It was the first contribution made by the United States to save civilization from being engulfed.

"Then we are enlisted in a common cause; we still have common economic interests. The payment of our debt to you involves much more than the transfer of huge sums from London to Washington. It must affect the future well-being of both countries and to a large extent that of the entire world. The settlement we make here will determine the condition and material welfare of the great mass of wage earners in Great Britain and the United States, their wives and children.

"The payment of our debt to you will impose upon us the necessity of levying heavy taxes to meet those payments. From the beginning of the war we were the heaviest taxed nation in the world. Total annual per capita taxation in Great Britain is today still greater than that of any other people. It amounts to more than $100 per head of the population.

Can't Dodge Consequences

CAPITAL WAITS PARIS WORD OF HUGHES OFFER

Proposals Not Definitely Rejected by France Belief in Official Circles at Washington

FRANCE TO TAKE POSSESSION OF RUHR REGION ON THURSDAY

Plans Reported Completed for Occupation of Essen by Small French Force

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—The allied reparations commission gave the German experts a hearing lasting nearly three hours this afternoon on the subject of the German default in coal deliveries. The commission then adjourned. It expects to take a vote about noon Tuesday on the French demand that Germany be declared in voluntary default.

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—In a last effort to save the Ruhr valley from French seizure, an attempt was made last Friday to arrange an interview in Paris between Premier Poincare and Hugo Stinnes at which the head of the French government and the chief of the German capitalists might make peace. Premier Poincare rejected the offer.

WASHINGTON.—The plan for settlement of the reparations controversy between France and England outlined by Secretary Hughes, in his New Haven address has been communicated to the French government through official channels.

No final reply has been made by Paris, although it was learned Monday that a preliminary answer had been received here from the French foreign office. It was said at the state department that the proposal was regarded as still before the French government for decision.

It was not stated when the American communication was sent out but indications are that it was transmitted through diplomatic channels before Mr. Hughes delivered his address at New Haven.

Commission of Experts

It was said authoritatively that the transmittal was "perfectly definite" in character, and it was indicated that it revolved about the suggestion that international financiers be called in to formulate a reparations payment plan.

Official comment as to the nature of the reply already received from Paris was withheld. Statement that the American suggestion still was definitely before the French government, however, was interpreted to mean that the French answer was not an unqualified rejection of the scheme.

More On Ruhr Thursday

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—The occupation of Essen by a small French force, accompanying engineers and customs officers, is now slated for Thursday morning, it was stated on good authority Monday.

Belgian and Italian engineers and technical experts will accompany the French but only the Belgian, it is understood, will contribute to the force of occupation.

Premier Poincare will inform parliament on Thursday regarding his policy toward the Ruhr district. This was decided upon at Monday's council of ministers.

"France is going just far enough in action in the Ruhr to show Germany she is in earnest," it was said in official circles.

There is every desire on the part of France, it is stated, to avoid any unnecessary show of force—any indication that the French government is disposed to rely on force alone to reach a satisfactory agreement with Germany.

Premier Poincare does not intend to mobilize a single soldier in addition to the regular forces under arms nor call out a single additional railroad man to effect the operation, it is declared.

No Show of Force

The silence of the government regarding its plan to seize guarantees conceals no designs to make a great show of military force, it is affirmed, but is only a natural precaution on the part of the authorities responsible for the success of so serious an undertaking as that in view.

It seemed certain Monday that the reparations commission would vote Germany in voluntary default on coal deliveries for last year after the final hearing of the German experts which was set for afternoon.

The appearance of the Germans was considered a mere formality, as their (Continued on page six)

Theodore Roosevelt

SATURDAY was the anniversary of the death of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. He was one of the few Americans who will stand out in history without a background of war or great upheaval. To be a figure so outstanding in peaceful times as to be perceived as clearly as we perceive men like Washington and Lincoln, whose lives were emphasized by the opportunity of leadership in great moments, requires tremendous personality.

True, Colonel Roosevelt fought in the Spanish war, but it wasn't much of a war. Indeed, in speaking apologetically of it, Col. Roosevelt once excused it by saying that it was "the only war we had". He lived too, during the world war, but fate gave him no place in it excepting as the unofficial spokesman for the virile Americanism which finally found and expressed itself in that tremendous conflict.

Col. Roosevelt is called an opportunist by many. This was not true in any evil sense, but it was true that he had a keen perception of great affairs, and was always a leader in recognizing and meeting change. It was this that brought him forth as a leader of the progressive movement, a leadership which was characterized rather than by extraordinary changes, by his role as the spokesman for a new sense of honesty and public obligation in the business affairs of his time.

As a progressive leader, Col. Roosevelt was distinguished from most of those who have made names in this forward movement. For the most part they have chosen the environment of the common lot, and spoken objectively to groups and interests which they characterized as foes of the common weal. Col. Roosevelt would not change his environment for a political effect. Born an aristocrat, he chose to retain his status, and so as a disciple of democracy, he was able to speak on terms of intimacy with those who are characterized by the political fashion of the generation as undemocratic.

It is interesting to observe how easily, from this environment, Col. Roosevelt stepped into other groups and classes without losing caste, and at the same time inspired cordiality and confidence among those outside the circle of his birth. As cowboy and soldier, as common man in the common crowd, he sold himself as genuine. Who else could have traveled in double harness with the late Mr. Perkins of American Harvester fame, and at the same time won the cheers of reformers and proletariat when he threw his hat into the presidential ring from the third story of the Congress hotel in 1912?

Probably the secret of these things is that while he was born to the life made possible by wealth and position, Col. Roosevelt was a sincere believer in democracy. Perhaps it was not so much democracy in the abstract, as that American democracy to which at all times he gave the enthusiasm of a red blooded patriot.

We place no great importance upon the things which Col. Roosevelt did. His were not the opportunities which created Washingtons and Lincolns. Rather his was the difficult task of giving color to colorless times. But we do value Mr. Roosevelt as one capable, even in ordinary moments, of expressing the spirit of America. As to few men, to him was given the power of capturing the imaginations and stirring the aspirations of men. He could move a polyglot nation with an epigram, almost with a gesture. In robustness and in ambition he was typical of the America of our ideals. In character we might describe him by the phrase which he used when told that Alton B. Parker had been nominated by the democratic party to oppose him for the presidency. How like "Teddy" Roosevelt to have said:

"Clean as a hound's tooth!"

There is not much in this editorial "stab" at a great figure. It is like a mortal attempt to paint a ten league canvass with brushes of comet's hair. A cartoonist, with a sketch of prominent teeth and a pair of spectacle rims, could say more to his public.

But perhaps we can reach the point by asking a question. What mark would "Teddy" Roosevelt have made upon the world had he been president when the Lusitania was sunk? There is in progress a plan to restore the ancestral home of Theodore Roosevelt as a national heirloom. In a Virginia cornfield lie the ruins of the home of James Madison. The parental home of Theodore Roosevelt is lapsing into ruins. We talk of 100 per cent Americanism. In all our hundred odd millions of people, even 100,000 truly 100 per cent Americans should not permit this thing to be. We have had many great national leaders. Perhaps no other was so especially qualified to appeal to American youth as was Colonel Roosevelt. His relations with his own sons, as disclosed by correspondence, emphasize this fact. The group of American women who seek an enduring monument for Theodore Roosevelt want to build at once in lasting granite and in the everlasting heart of young America.

We turn back to the youth of Theodore Roosevelt to learn how well worth while is this idea. Physically a weakling whose mental energy told him he must build a body to match his brain, the rigorous discipline to which even as a child he subjected himself to this end, the western excursions in which he learned to vic with the most reckless of rough riders, tell a story of abounding optimism and tremendous ambition to make life worth having been lived.

To American children we commend the story of Theodore Roosevelt, with its combination of idealism and relentless strength, with its evidences of the power of achievement which resides in will, regardless of physical inheritance. We commend it to those who have come to adopt Americanism. Saturday was the anniversary of the death of a great American citizen. It is worth remembering in sadness for his passing, and in joy for what he was. The day of his birth is worthy of being signaled by a national holiday.

Bootleggers

A BOOTLEGGER'S protective association is discovered in Chicago by United States District Attorney Clynne. The association headquarters furnishes bail, lawyers and influence when its members get arrested. Their customers might profitably form a similar organization, with fraternal features providing burial expenses for deceased members. How far has the organization of bootleggers gone? How much bribery and lobby are being carried on by the rum ring? The expose will come, red hot, some day. Possibly in a retired bootlegger's memoirs.

Steam

INLAND cities in April and May will celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the first trip of a steamboat on the Mississippi. The orators will concentrate their eloquence in comparing 1923 with 1823. We certainly have progressed on a stupendous scale in the last century. But a lot of the progress has been backward, not forward. The only achievement that can really be called progress is one that makes people better and happier. On the average, are we as sensible and contented as our great-grandparents?

A Badge of Servitude

BY BERTHA R. McDONALD

"If that's the way you feel about it there's no use my wearing your ring a moment longer!" stormed Peggy Daniels, dragging a solitaire from her engagement finger and thrusting it into the hand of her astonished fiancé. "I should see it as a badge of servitude every time I looked at it."

With that she dashed into the house, locking the door after her, and Clayton Elford was left standing alone on the porch, feeling very much as though the earth were yawning in about him. They had quarreled over such a little thing he could scarcely believe Peggy would be so silly as to end everything between them for that, yet the tangible evidence lay sparkling in his outstretched palm, and he had just heard the key to a house where he had heretofore been more than welcome, turned against him.

As for Peggy, she went directly to her room to be alone until she could face the situation calmly. After an hour she decided that for one thing she must get away from Norwood at once, at least for a time.

Hester Sanburn, at whose wedding with Chester Cleveland she and Clay had been attendants three years before, had been clamoring for a visit from Peggy for some time, and in her emergency the bewildered girl looked to the fruit farm the Cleverlands called home as a haven of refuge.

She had felt sorry for Hester when she found she was going to bury herself among the Michigan peaches, but Hester hadn't seemed to mind in the least and her letters had been one burst of enthusiasm after another over the freedom of their lives there.

Having sent a telegram that partly explained her sudden and unexpected descent upon them, Peggy packed and made ready to leave the following afternoon. During all the long journey she was a prey to her gloomy thoughts. The years seemed to stretch out before her empty and desolate without Clay, but better that than life with a man who thought woman's only sphere of usefulness was in the home.

To be sure, that wasn't exactly what he had said, but he might as well say it as to think it, she argued with herself. No other thought had entered her mind during their engagement but that she would be the contented keeper of her beloved's home and the proud mother of his children, but all this was changed when he objected so seriously to her speaking at a woman's political meeting.

The thought kept recurring that he had based his objection on the grounds of servitude, and she had been up the morning from which he wished to protect her, but she was very prone to believe that merely an excuse to cover his real reason.

In the heat of her anger plans began to formulate. She would take up public speaking in the interest of woman's work outside the home and show this male unbeliever that women could be successful in other pursuits besides those of baking bread and mending babies.

When she reached St. Jo she immediately boarded the trolley which would deposit her at station 25—just opposite the Cleveland place but when she alighted at station 25 the Cleveland home seemed strangely, inhospitably quiet. Could it be that Hester had not received her letter?

She hurried up the walk to the door, expecting every moment to be enfolded in Hester's warm welcome. Instead, she discovered an enormous bundle lying on the floor, and an old maid box by one corner, and when she opened it a key rattled to the porch floor.

"Peg, dear," she read, "Robbie developed strange symptoms this afternoon, so I hurried him right to the hospital. Find key in envelope—box checked for a full two days. By that time either Clay or I or all of us will be back. Do not afraid—no one ever disturbs Peachbloss Farmhouse—Hester."

What a fiasco! Evidently Hester had forgotten her forwarding experience with burials, a far more prosaic, which had left her a nervous prostrate of being alone at night. Her first impulse was to take the next trolley back to some hotel in St. Jo, but on second thought she decided that was a most inauspicious way to show her discarded fiancé what the new woman could do.

She let herself in, determined to brave it out. After making a quick survey of the Cleverlands' comfortable home she removed the marks of recent travel and proceeded to avail herself of the well-filled lexicon.

Her hunger appeased, she turned on the lights in the living room and tried to read, but the pages of her magazine seemed filled with visions of Clay, and every little noise made her start with terror. Despite the fact that it was a warm evening she closed all the windows and turned the catch in the door, then tried to read again.

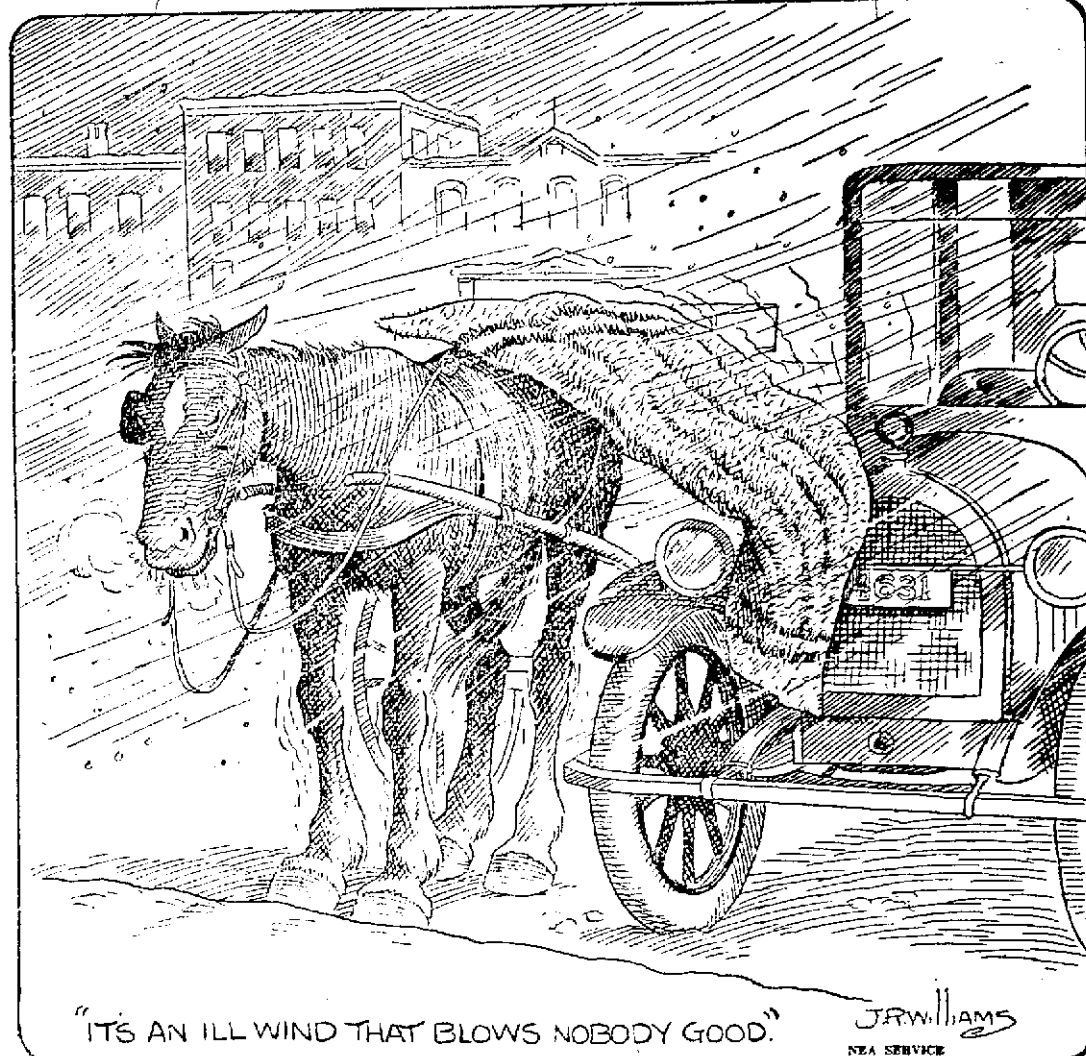

Finally she sat up, every sense instantly alert. A vague foreboding had aroused her from the light sleep into which she had fallen, and her heart beat violently. She sat with her back to the door, but she could distinctly hear a low, even knock upon it, and suddenly she remembered that light had just pulled down one of the shades in front. She extinguished the lights and began creeping stealthily toward it. As she moved, a man's head outlined itself against the glass. Then a ray of moonlight disclosed the doorknob turning and the door opening slowly. Realizing that she must have turned the catch to open instead of lock the door, she gave a piercing shriek and crumpled into a heap in the floor.

In an instant the room was flooded with light and the burglar was gathering Peggy into his arms. "Peggy!" she heard him say, as in a daze, "I'll never let you go again—no woman or old."

"But, Clay," she faltered, when she sensed that it was he, "why—why did you follow me when—"

"I didn't follow you," he interrupted.

OUT OUR WAY

Abe Martin

It didn't look much like they'd ever killed Clara Phillips, for she had plenty of time to get her car painted and her feet checked. Mrs. M. Nugent has a letter from her son saying he's going to see her as soon as there's enough prisoners for a quartet.

"I was so miserable I sent for a special the night we quarreled telling him I was coming here, without the least idea you would be here too. I've still got the—the ring in my pocket, dear. Would you let me put it on again?"

Her right arm stole gently around his neck while she extended the left for the ring, and she said softly, "I think I could even wear a badge of servitude for you Clay. I've done a lot of thinking since that night, and somehow I'm afraid I'll be an interloper in any capacity without your protection."

At that moment the Cleverlands swung broadly in through the open door, and Hester said laughingly:

"How about it? Did we stay away long enough to give you two foolish lovers time to patch things up?"

"Oh yes," answered Peggy gayly. "You see I'm wearing my badge of servitude along with the rest of you uninitiated women."

OUT OF BROTHER'S COAT COLLAR

The neck that appears in the collar of the masculine suit is a reminder of the days when the back of the neck actually stood up around the back and sides of the neck to the height of the neckerchief while the lapels lay flat. The neck was then a deep slash without which the collar could not have stood up or the lapels lain down. The padding on the shoulder was primarily designed to keep a sword belt from slipping off, while the broad down the trousers remains from the days when trousers were built so tight that the feet could not be got through them and they had to be hunched down the outside of the leg with a line of closely-set buttons.

WATERLOO, Iowa.—Alfred Redard, 45 years old, who operated a general store at Eagle Center, was killed in an automobile accident two miles from Waterloo. He was returning home with a load of merchandise when the car overturned. He was caught under the car, and it is believed he was smothered to death, as he was buried under the large quantity of flour.

TAX REDUCTION, ECONOMY IN GOVERNMENT AND FARM-LABOR LAWS TO BE URGED BY BLAINE

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—Reduction of taxes, economy in government, both state and local, and enactment of laws to protect agriculture and labor, are understood to be urged by Governor J. J. Blaine in his message to the fifty-sixth Wisconsin legislature, which convenes here Wednesday. The message will be read to the session Thursday morning shortly before noon.

A broad field of legislation is expected to be covered by the governor, who will dwell in his recommendation to the legislature on all of the platform pledges made to the people by the progressives during the last campaign. The document is nearly 10,000 words in length.

State finances are to be discussed fully by Governor Blaine who will suggest that taxes to meet these costs of government be raised through increases in the income taxes on higher incomes, removal of the personal property offset, and recovery of back taxes by removal of the secrecy clause to the income tax law. Highway financing is expected to be dealt with in a comprehensive manner by the executive.

Recap Railway Act

Dealing with agricultural and industrial conditions, Governor Blaine is believed, will urge immediate repeal of the Esch-Cummins railroad law and will ask the legislature to memorialize congress to this effect. He will advocate abolition of the practice of Pittsburgh plus on steel shipments, will strongly favor the Great Lakes to the Gulf waterway project, suggest reconstruction of the federal reserve and federal farm loan systems, and favor legislation to end speculation in grain, dairy products and other staple necessities.

Abolition of the use of injunctions in labor disputes is to be asked of the legislature by Governor Blaine, who will also urge the members to declare for complete protection of the right of farmers and industrial workers to organize, bargain collectively and conduct such cooperative enterprises as they choose.

An expression of support to legislation which may be helpful and needful in promoting direct co-operation between producer and consumer to eliminate waste and speculation, will be made by the governor. He will declare against monetary control of natural resources, markets and distribution.

Protect Child Worker

Amendment to the federal constitution to permit legislation for the protection of child workers, will probably be recommended by the governor. He will express himself in favor of adequate representation by women, on an equality with men, in the legislature, on farms and commissions, and in all public offices and employments. It is believed that he also will declare his favor for the continuance of the policy he inaugurated, of enforcing the women's equal rights law in such manner as not only to accord women equal rights with men, but also to conserve the protective and welfare laws relating to women.

On the problem of education, Governor Blaine will be likely to suggest a legislative program for the improvement of the public school system giving equal opportunities to farm and city children. He will favor liberal provision for teachers training, agricultural, vocational, continuation and normal schools as well as the university, consistent with the support given to common schools.

Referendum on War

Appeal is to be made to the people to take definite political action looking to the outlawry of war, calling for an amendment requiring a popular referendum whenever congress, in other than a national emergency, shall vote to declare war.

The initiative, referendum and recall will be favored with a declaration of support for the direct primary. Opposition is to be expressed to any attempt to abridge the right of freedom of speech or of the press, while the constitutional right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable search and seizures will be upheld.

This last provision refers to prohibition, and is expected further to urge that no warrants shall be issued except upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

The soldiers' bonus will be favored by the governor in his message according to the reliable report concerning its contents.

SPARTA PASTOR TO PREACH HIS FIRST SERMON ON SUNDAY

The Rev. William Lodwick to Occupy Pulpit of Congregational Church

SPARTA, Wis.—Rev. William Lodwick, who has lately been chosen as the new pastor for the Congregational church in this city, assumed the duties of the pastorate the past week, and preached his first sermon in Sparta Sunday. The pulpit was left vacant by the resignation of Rev. Joseph S. Morris, who left Sparta in November to accept a position in the Congregational church at Fort Atkinson.

Monroe county's new sheriff, William Albright, took over the affairs of the office Tuesday night, after the meeting of the county board. Mr. Albright has appointed H. W. Smith of Sparta as his under-sheriff, but has not yet announced his deputies.

Out of the 11 men from 25 Wisconsin cities outside Madison, who were among those selected for the president's guard of the military department of the University of Wisconsin, at a recent event in which 120 men competed, Ernie L. Merow of Sparta was chosen to be among those comprising the guard this year.

Floyd Peterson, an employee in the Tomah postoffice, was arraigned before Justice Lamson on December 29 to answer charges preferred by state's attorney William U. Naylor of Tomah, and District Attorney Gleason of La Crosse. The defendant was charged with having been found over the county court. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest.

W. K. Kenney of the William Lodwick, was arraigned before Justice Lamson of Tomah on December 29 to answer charges preferred by state's attorney William U. What Holm and Stuart Shirts Find Little Power in Eyes of American Diplomats

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 7.—The Holm and Stuart shirts, which have been the subject of much publicity in this city, were shown to a group of American diplomats in St. Louis today. The group, which included several members of the diplomatic corps, were shown the shirts by a representative of the Holm and Stuart company. The shirts, which are made of a special material, were shown to the group in a room at the Hotel St. Louis. The group, which included several members of the diplomatic corps, were shown the shirts by a representative of the Holm and Stuart company.

There were many men with bobbed hair which was curled and bobbed hair which was flattened down straight. There were both blondes and brunettes with short hair, but they attracted little attention.

All eyes were on the girls with long hair, regardless of whether it was red, golden or black. They got all the applause. And the more modest and demure the maiden was, the greater her popularity with the spectators.

The snappy flapper was clearly in the discard, in the opinion of the international crowd gathered at La Crosse, and the willowy girl in extremely long skirts and with plainly dressed hair was in favor. The prime favorite among the maidens was a gray-eyed little Quakeress, with brown hair parted in the middle, and simply dressed. Her hair and gown were all gray or blue, and whenever she appeared on the stage the applause was deafening, while the more flashy maidens, walking with great affectation and dressed in conspicuous red and yellow gowns, were greeted with little enthusiasm.

THE FICKLE FALCON ISLANDS

The Falcon Islands of the Southern Pacific are so erratic and unreliable that no one will live upon them, in fact when you go to look for them you are not at all sure that you are going to find them. First you see them and then you do not. They were first seen and charted in 1825, but twelve years after the captain of a boat which passed that vicinity reported that they had disappeared, but that he observed smoke issuing from the sea at the point where the islands should be. In 1855 it was reported that the islands had reappeared and they were recharted and described again as a large rock. In 1859 they were said to take the form of a narrow ledge of rock scarcely above the water line. At last report there was one island three miles long and two miles wide covered with palms.

"THE NAUGHTY WIFE" PLAYS TO CAPACITY HOUSES ON SUNDAY

The audiences at both performances at the Majestic Theatre yesterday enjoyed to the utmost a play comedy, "The Naughty Wife," put on in its inimitable Beach-Jones style with Elodie Stitzer in the title role. "The Naughty Wife" is a three-act comedy farce on married life. It is full of interesting situations and has a laugh in every line. The first act takes place in the Farrington home in New York while the second and third are set in the Farrington luncheon on Long Island.

Elodie Stitzer, played by Elodie Stitzer, has come to the conclusion that her husband Hilary Farrington, is neglecting her for his books and decides to elope with Barred McKnight, a man of many "affairs." Played by Guy Roney. Instead of trying to stop his wife's elopement as he would be expected to do Farrington decides that the best way to bring his wife to her senses is to help the elopement along and show up McKnight's true character. Grace Edwards is seen as Nora Gail who does much to help Farrington in his little game.

"The Naughty Wife" will be at the Majestic tonight and Tuesday. Opening on Wednesday the Beach-Jones Company will present "Molly-O."

SCHOOLS IN SOVIET RUSSIA SHOW GOOD INCREASE IN NUMBER

Public Education Being Given More Attention by Bolshevik Leaders

MOSCOW.—The number of public schools in Soviet Russia shows an increase under the soviet regime as compared with pre-revolutionary times, according to recent announcement of A. Lunacharsky, commissar for education.

During the first two years of the revolution, public education was given much attention by the soviet government, and the number of public schools was brought up to 30,000 with a staff of 40,000 teachers and 2,250,000 pupils, as compared with 22,000 schools, 32,000 teachers and 1,500,000 pupils in 1917. But in 1921, with the change of economic policy and the abolition of the non-monetary system, came the first reduction of expenses in education and curtailment of public schools. In 1922 a further number of schools had to be closed, on account of budget difficulties, while many schools were deserted by their staffs owing to insufficient and irregular pay.

At the present time, according to the official figures, there are 23,000 schools, 38,000 teachers, and 1,435,000 pupils. For 1923 is expected to show a decrease, for the government will place the cost of upkeep of public schools upon local authorities, and these are notoriously short of funds.

SPECIAL LAWS FOR INDIANS IS AIM OF CATHOLIC WOMEN

Betterment of Natives Sought by State Club; Mrs. Perkins of La Crosse on Committee

MADISON, Wis.—State legislation for Indians will be the legislative aim of the Catholic Women's club of the state according to an announcement by Mrs. E. T. Ballie, state chairman of the club. The announcement declares that the intentions are not to disturb the existing order of federal control but the bills proposed are to supplement these laws with special regard for education, health and morals.

"Teachers of Indian schools in this state," said Mrs. Ballie, "because they are underpaid, are often of poor quality although there are many good and faithful teachers. No character qualifications are required at present on the entrance of the pupils. This results in those of bad morals and of poor health being allowed to mingle with the innocent and healthy."

"Only half day school unduly lengthens the term of school years. The course of study, as at present, is intricate and largely theoretical. The course of study and books are changed so frequently that there is no continuity of plan or work. There is too much paternalism. It is better to begin to train the Indian to stand on his own feet. If public or parochial ordinary education is good enough for the ordinary citizen's children, why not for the Indian."

"Home and church, the two great factors in preserving family life, are entirely eliminated in these schools. Federal statutes do not provide for punishment for adultery, bigamy or wife abandonment and other such crimes on the reservations. Marriage and divorce are mere whims. District attorneys have refused time and again to prosecute under the plea of 'no jurisdiction.' A bill has been prepared to cover these defects."

Assisting Mrs. Ballie in promoting this legislation are Mrs. A. M. Irish and Mrs. John Barnes, Madison; Miss Katherine Williams, Milwaukee; Mrs. Ed Bowler, Sheboygan; Mrs. McCloskey, Green Bay; Miss Georgia Malone, Racine; Mrs. G. G. Perkins, La Crosse; Mrs. Manning, Janesville, and Mrs. Lincoln of Portage.

"This bill is the remedy or at least partial remedy for the present bad conditions," declared Rev. Philip Gordon, Indian missionary of Reserve, Wis. "If the state had the right to go on the reservations and into government schools it would certainly see that there would be some proper health supervision and it would have the right to enforce its regulation."

It was also pointed out that with tuberculosis rampant on the state reservations there is no sanatoria where Wisconsin Indians may be placed. The nearest sanatoria is located at Toledo, Iowa, several hundred miles away from the Wisconsin reservations. Father Gordon asserts that there are no hospitals for the Chippewa Indians and that they have but one doctor.

A 2,000-MILE TRAIN OF WHEAT

Canadian authorities are greatly elated at the progress made in wheat raising in that country. This year's crop is more than 310,000,000 bushels. If this enormous amount of wheat were ground into flour and made into bread there would be enough to supply every man, woman and child in England with a loaf of bread weighing twenty-four ounces every day for a whole year, or to give a single ration to the entire population of the United States every day for a period of four months.

Putting the wheat yield at a minimum of 345,000,000 bushels statistics show that this quantity is equivalent to 20,580,000,000 pounds of wheat or 10,290,000 tons of 22,500,000 barrels of flour, which could be made into 12,862,500,000 loaves of bread each weighing twenty-four ounces.

An idea of the enormous quantity of wheat produced by Canada this year may be gained by imagining 7,500 trains running at intervals of five minutes apart, taking 252 days to pass a given point. That is just how long it would take 257,250 forty-ton grain cars loaded to capacity to move Canada's 1922 wheat crop. Placed end to end these cars would make a train 1946 miles long, extending from New York to Denver, Col.

RETURNS FROM TRIP TO FIND RESIDENCE HAS BEEN RANSACKED

Home of V. M. Parkinson, 221 Twenty-first Place, Raided Apparently by Boys

Vernon M. Parkinson, 221 Twenty-first Place, returned from a Christmas vacation with his family to St. Louis to find that his house had been raided by amateur burglars during his absence. Nothing was missing, however, he reported to the police after a hasty inventory. Drawers and cupboards were ransacked and open, a few articles had been taken from the house to the basement for examination, but left there, and the house was littered with burned matches.

That the raid was probably the work of boys rather than of a professional housebreaker was deduced from the fact that several portable articles of some value were left, and the fact that the burglars had apparently tried to arrange a practical joke on their victim by covering up a heap of pillows on the davenport in the living room in such a way as to resemble a sleeping figure.

Almost all of the silver and other valuable contents of the house had been removed before the family left for St. Louis, Mr. Parkinson said. Damage was gained by breaking in a basement door of the residence.

WOMAN IDENTIFIES "JACK THE PEEPER" RIDING STREET CAR

Police Find Prowler is Married Man Employed on North Side; Think He's Through

"Jack the Peeper," whose antics have often frightened women in several parts of the city, has been identified and stopped by the police, after several houses in the east end reported visits from him just before and after the holidays. He was identified on a street-car by a woman to whose home he had paid frequent visits, and who had often had a plain look at him as he peered through her windows.

The identification was reported to the police with a good description by the woman, and with this information the police easily located the peeper. He is a married man, it is said, employed in a north side factory. Not having actually caught him in the act, the police did not take him into court, but he was on the carpet at Central police station and the authorities believe it will be sufficient to stop his activities.

For several weeks before he was identified the peeper had been busy in the east end, following women on the street and peering in at windows. He frightened several people badly although so far as is known he offered no harm to anyone. Police had made several ineffectual efforts to catch him at work when reports came in, but he was quick to take alarm and invariably was gone by the time the police reached the spot.

That the man was extremely timid was declared by the woman responsible for his capture. She got her first good look at him on a night when he was paying one of many visits to look through a living room window. She stepped out of doors and spoke sharply to him and he turned and "ran like a whitehead," she declared.

JEWIS IN CHICAGO UNITE IN PAYING TRIBUTE TO HIRSCH

Famous Jewish Rabbi Dies Sunday Following Attack of Pneumonia

CHICAGO—Followers of Jewish faith, men and women of all creeds, rich and poor alike, will join tomorrow in tribute to memory of Dr. Emil Gustav Hirsch, Jewish rabbi, lecturer and scholar for whom funeral ceremonies were to be observed Monday forenoon. Dr. Hirsch died early Sunday, after an attack of pneumonia. He was 71.

For forty-three years Dr. Hirsch was pastor of Sinai Congregation here. He was a reformed Jew holding that the Jewish Sabbath need not be celebrated on Saturday and that the Scripture could be applied to the Jewish faith with modern versions. These opinions are opposed to teachings of the orthodox Jewish church.

Dr. Hirsch was born in Luxembourg, May 22, 1851. He was educated first in Germany, later receiving a degree from the University of Pennsylvania. He then returned to Germany to study at Bonn and Leipzig. In 1877 he was made rabbi and came to Chicago in 1880.

Dr. Hirsch figured prominently in public life here for many years as a politician, author of monographs on religious subjects, an advocate of reform in the Jewish teachings, an official of charitable organizations and a trustee of the Chicago Public Library.

He is survived by his widow, three daughters and two sons.

STATE OPENS BIDS ON CEMENT SUPPLY FOR ROAD BUILDING

Million and a Half Barrels
Needed for Highway Construction this Season

MADISON, Wis.—Bids totaling $2,400,000 for the 1,500,000 barrels of cement needed by the state and all except two counties for the 1923 road program have been opened by the state highway commission and will be formally accepted as a matter of fact within a few days. This was the announcement on Saturday by State Highway Engineer A. R. Hirst who declared that the price of $1.60 per barrel, although 11 cents higher than the average price last year, was as good as could be expected under present conditions. The price of $1.60 per barrel is 1, 6, 6, the mill at Burlington, Indiana or La Salle, Illinois. The average price last year was $1.50.

"One and a half million barrels of cement is needed this year for the concrete road program of the state and all but two counties," said Mr. Hirst. "I consider that the $1.60 bid price is reasonably fair under the present conditions. There is no doubt but what it might be 10 to 15 cents lower were it not for the poor transportation facilities both going and coming and the uncertain coal strike situation."

"Of the total of 1,500,000 barrels we will purchase some 6,000,000 will be used by the state and the rest by counties. The road program upon which the cement will be used contemplates the building of 350 miles of concrete roads this year. That will use 1,225,000 barrels and the remaining 275,000 will be used in bridge and culvert work."

Mr. Hirst pointed out that both Dodge and Outagamie counties which contemplated a total concrete road program of 100 miles had not authorized the state commission to purchase their cement. This cement will be bought outside of the present bids. These counties will require upwards of 300,000 barrels of cement.

While the bids have not formally been accepted Mr. Hirst indicated that this will be done within a few days dependent only upon arranging a few details. All bids will be accepted for the reason that they cover for 1,200,000 barrels of the 1,500,000 barrels required. It is not thought that any difficulty will be experienced, however, in purchasing the remaining 300,000 barrels at the $1.60 price.

"There is a bull market on cement," declared Mr. Hirst. "There is no enough being made to supply all demands. Not only this but the coal situation hampers the industry. Exactly 200 pounds of coal is required in the manufacture of each barrel of cement. With coal at the present price and the future uncertain together with the poor transportation facilities and a rising labor market we consider the price reasonable."

CANADIAN INDIANS MAKE PEACE WITH THE GOVERNMENT

Iroquois Tribe to Remain in Northland; Demanded Recognition as Nation

TORONTO.—The Iroquois Indians have made peace with the Dominion government. Threats of migration to the reservations of the nation in the United States, because the Dominion would not recognize the red men as an independent nation, have been forgotten. The hatchet was buried and the peace pipe was smoked at Chiswick early in December.

Chief Deschenet, leader of the faction fighting for independence, carried the issue to the council house of the nation, but accepted defeat stoutly when the other chiefs at the council saw they were outvoted. He and his followers had maintained that their independence was a matter of law, their independence having been recognized by a British sovereign.

Leaders of the loyalists, the winning faction at Chiswick, were chiefly from the Christian tribes of the Mohawks and Delawares. They were well satisfied with the outcome at the peace conference but now propose to go even further. Their tribes have virtually no representation on the hereditary council, members of which are elected for life by the women of the tribes. The loyalists, it is announced, will work for an elective council, to conform with the democratic trend of the times and to do away with a remnant of feudalism.

NONE CAN EXPLAIN "AURORA"

The aurora borealis (or northern lights) is occasionally seen in the north temperate zone and frequently in the polar regions. It is said to be due to the passage of electricity through the rarefied air of the arctic zone. The name "aurora borealis" was first used by Cassini, who, in 1621, observed one in France and wrote a description of it. The "aurora" is periodic in its manifestations, the finest displays being at intervals of 60 years, and less marked ones at intervals of 10 or 11 years. It is also asserted that the greater and lesser displays correspond with the increase and decrease of spots on the sun. The phenomenon is generally manifested in the following way: A dim light appears on the horizon shortly after twilight, and gradually assumes the shape of an arch having a pale yellow color, with its concave side turned earthward. From this arch streams of light shoot forth, passing from yellow to green and then to brilliant violet. The name aurora australis (or southern lights) is applied to a similar phenomenon visible in the vicinity of the South pole.—Merrill Herald.

VOGUE OF METAL CLOTH

New York's first opera night sets the winter's evening styles.

This year, metal cloth, silver and gold, outshone everything else. With such gowns went slippers, stockings and hair bandeaus to match.

Other gowns were trimmed with metal cloth or lace. Velvet, tulle and clinging crepes were seen, too, usually brilliantly trimmed with crystals, jet, rhinestone, silver or gold ornaments. Both draped gowns, many only slightly so, so as to be nearly straight, and full-skirted frocks were popular.

Besides gold and silver, green was the only brilliant color. There were also white, rose shades, amber and mauve. Black was seen chiefly in crepes were seen, too, usually bril-

POLICE IN 2 CITIES SEARCH FOR MISSING MILWAUKEE RESIDENT

Mysterious Telephone Call Leads to Theory of Kidnap-

CHICAGO, Ill.—Hugo Schlesinger, 63, wealthy retired president of the Vera Chemical company of Milwaukee, missing since last Friday afternoon, was the object of a search Monday by police of this city and Milwaukee. Trace of him was lost when he checked out of a hotel here without leaving a forwarding address.

Police of Chicago first learned of Mr. Schlesinger's disappearance from his nephew, Herman Schlesinger, professor at the University of Chicago. Credence to the kidnapping theory was given because of a mysterious telephone call Sunday night to Milwaukee police by a man purporting to be Mr. Schlesinger's relative. The caller asked for the telephone number of Louis Schlesinger, brother of the missing man.

A trip to California was mentioned by Mr. Schlesinger, the hotel employee told police, but members of Mr. Schlesinger's family said he had little money with him to make the trip.

MODEL'S ROMANCE ENDS IN DIVORCE COURT

DETROIT.—Even in Detroit an artist's model can have adventures that rival those of Greenwich Village in New York or the Latin Quarter of Paris.

The career of Maizie Mitchell Ryerson proves it.

Maizie's romance really began when she ran away from her paternal parents in Canada to become a stage dancer. This happened when she was only 15.

Eighteen found her in Detroit, posing for artists. In a studio she met Albert W. Ryerson, a youthfully groomed man of 51, who was introduced to her as a well-to-do patron of the arts.

Ryerson took an immediate interest in the little dancer and model.

"It was purely a fatherly interest," says Maizie. "At least I thought so. And when he asked me to go to live in his apartment as his ward, I readily agreed and thought myself the most fortunate of girls."

Maizie described the apartment as an exquisitely furnished suite in an office building, where furnished servants of a Hindu cast of countenance trod soft oriental rugs and lighted incense lamps.

"I had lived there only two months," she says, "when Mr. Ryerson proposed marriage. He argued that our arrangement would cause folks to talk. But I protested I wasn't in love with him."

"Then he suggested we be married for a 30-day trial and that if he hadn't taught me to love him by the end of that period, I would be free to leave him."

The marriage took place in the fall. It lasted 29 days. Then Maizie left her benefactor, complaining of his ideas of love and love rites.

She said she believed Ryerson had formulated these ideas while connected with a strange secret order. Ryerson had headed a book concern which issued a volume setting forth this cult's precepts.

Many copies of this book were found on the concern's shelves when receivers took over the property.

MADISON, Wis.—Upwards of 1,000 county highway commissioners, members of county road and bridge committees, road patrolmen and contractors will meet here the week of January 22nd to 26th for the 12th annual good road school. This announcement was made on Monday by state chief highway engineer, A. R. Due to the fact that the legislature will be in session, all sessions of the good roads school will be held in Turner hall, two blocks from the state capitol. The annual banquet will be held on Thursday evening, the 25th. The school opens on Monday noon, January 22nd, and closes Friday noon the 26th. WINONA'S NEW SKI SLIDE IS NEARLY COMPLETED NOW

Take-off to be Constructed Under Supervision of Anders Haugen.

WILL PUT SKIING SPORT ON PERMANENT BASIS IN WINONA

Slide to be Formally Opened During the Carnival

WINONA, Minn. — Winona's ski slide, which is intended to put the sport of skiing on a permanent basis in this city, was practically completed Saturday with the exception of the take-off which is to be erected early next week under the supervision of Anders Haugen, world's champion ski jumper.

Mr. Haugen was scheduled to arrive in Winona Sunday evening, and work on the take-off will proceed Monday. If sufficient snow falls, Mr. Haugen will try out the new slide before returning to Minneapolis. He selected the site for the slide and approved the plans drawn by City Engineer E. E. Chadwick.

The slide points down Garvin Heights in a northwest direction, crossing the Garvin Heights road just north of the big horseshoe bend in the highway. The take-off is to be just at the east of the road. The jumper will leap over the road, which is flanked by a trestle, and land on the slope below. A wooden platform has been constructed on the slope to provide the proper angle for landing and to ensure smoothness. The jumper will start approximately 260 feet up the hill, and will land on the slope at a distance of 160 feet in Mr. Haugen's opinion.

Big Tournament Planned

The slide will be formally opened during the winter carnival with a tournament in which a number of nationally known professional riders, as well as numerous amateurs, will take part, according to plans of Frank H. Munro, chairman of the sports committee.

"The carnival committee hopes to use the big slide as a basis for developing the sport in this city and encouraging amateur riders among local boys and young men after professional skiers have paved the way," Mr. Munro said. "Scores of small slides will eventually appear on the hills about the city when interest is aroused in the sport by the professional riders. The big slide will provide a basis for tournaments in which nationally known jumpers can participate. It is hardly to be expected that local amateurs will gain sufficient experience to use the big slide this season, but the enthusiasm created by professional riders and former winners is certain to establish the sport on a strong amateur basis in this city before another season has passed."

Toboggan Slide Work Begun

Work began today on the toboggan slide, which is located on the hill opposite Lafayette street. The slide will be available for use throughout this and future seasons, according to plans of the sports equipment committee headed by Ward Lays, which also has charge of construction of the ski slide.

FOREST PRODUCTS TO TEST WESTERN PINE FOR CRATES

MADISON, Wis. — Tests of the strength of western yellow pine as material for boxes and crates will be made shortly at the forest products laboratory here according to an announcement Saturday. Twenty-six thousand feet of the western yellow pine from northern California have been received for the tests.

Approximately 1,000 boxes will be made from the lumber for testing purposes. This data will be turned over to the shippers of the country to aid them in the elimination of waste through container breakage.

OSHKOSH ADDED TO WISCONSIN STATE LEAGUE CIRCUIT

APPLETON, Wis. — The first step in burying the hatchet in the baseball war in Northeastern Wisconsin, was taken Sunday afternoon at a meeting of the Wisconsin league magnates when the application of Oshkosh for a berth in the old Fox River Valley league was acted upon favorably. Fred Beebe, former big league writer, has purchased the Oshkosh franchise and will run the team alone. It was announced.

The addition of Oshkosh gives the Wisconsin State league a six club circuit composed of Green Bay, Marinette, Menominee, Menasha, Appleton, Manitowish and Oshkosh.

WHY THE TOP SPINS

Everyone who has ever whirled a string to which a stone is tied must have noticed the strong "pull" as the stone tried to get away. Every part of a spinning top is trying to fly away from the center of the top. It is exactly the same with the top. This pull is called "centrifugal force." The tendency to fly from the center.

As each particle of the top has an equal pull, none of them can upset the balance of any of the others, and so we get a balanced force.

So long as this force is strong enough—that is, so long as the spin lasts—it counteracts the ordinary power of gravity, which has to confine itself to the peg of the top, the only point actually touching the earth.

When the top slows down, the centrifugal force relaxes, gravity comes into its own again—and the top falls over.

BADGER ATHLETIC COUNCIL REALIZES BIG TASK AHEAD IN SELECTING GRID COACH

MADISON, Wis. — Nine men comprising the Athletic Council at the University of Wisconsin have a job on their hands—and they realize it. It is now two months since "Big John" Richards announced that he could not return for another year. Since that time a new member has been set afloat every other day as to some new applicant. Just who has applied the University authorities are reluctant to state feeling that such publication might jeopardize some of the applicants' present positions.

It is well known however, that the University has the applications of coaches both young and old. And there is the first problem. The Athletic Council must first decide whether the University is to employ a coach with a present reputation or one who has been a successful player but with comparatively little coaching experience.

Many alumni associations have petitioned for "the best man available" and there is no little student sentiment to back this position. On the other hand the Wisconsin authorities have always taken the position that Wisconsin does not intend to professionalize football by paying a large salary to a coach or supporting its players. Just what the decision will be rests with the Athletic Council upon whose recommendation the Board of Regents will probably act favorably. At least no decision is expected in the immediate future.

BASKET BALL QUIZ

Touches Ball

If a player who has put the ball in play from out of bounds touches it again before it has been touched by another player, what happens?

The ball goes to an opponent out of bounds for such an offense on the part of the player putting it in play.

Against Wall

If the backboards are placed directly against the wall are players allowed to run up the wall and shoot for goal?

Players have no such right when the backboards and backboards are so located. The moment the player runs up the wall he is out of bounds.

Hugging Ball

If a player having possession of the ball hugs it close to his body is it regarded a foul?

Hugging the ball is not regarded as a foul. When a player who is closely guarded so plays the ball, it is regarded as a held ball and put in play by being tossed in the air.

Position

When the ball is being put in play at the center of the court by the referee, tossing the ball, what positions are the other players required to take?

The other players may take any position they desire, provided they in no way interfere with the jumper.

CURLERS ENJOY DAY WITH ICE SURFACE IN GOOD CONDITION

Plan to Send Rink to Galesville on Tuesday; New Curlers Come Out

It was another great day for curlers at the La Crosse curling club Sunday afternoon, curlers reporting the ice in fine condition.

Two more men were converted and added to the steadily increasing family of curlers yesterday. Al Langenhack and John E. Langdon made their first appearance at the rink and avowed that they would make it a practice to get in on a lot of the games from now on. Skip Dundy had them shooting with his rink, which lost by a margin of 2 points to Skip Watkins. The score was 12 to 10.

Jack Verhulst led for Watkins, with Dr. Marshall and Jack Beck as the other members. Myron Locke was third for Dundy.

La Crosse curlers plan to send a rink to Galesville on Tuesday. No arrangements have been made regarding who will represent this city.

CHECK SWINDLER ACTIVE IN THE CITY TWO ARE PASSED

Police are investigating the origin of two bad checks, one for $10 and another amounting to $12.50, passed in the city on December 31 and January 3, respectively.

The $10 check was passed at the Humphrey grocery store, 215 North Tenth, on the purchase of $2.65 worth of groceries on December 31, police said today. Another check for $12.50 has been referred to the police for investigation. Both checks were made payable to Walter Cameron, the former bearing the forged signature of Mrs. G. Van Steenwyk, and the latter the signature of Dr. B. Mast. Both were on the Security Savings Bank, police said.

"PINKY" ARENZ TO OPEN BARBER SHOP ON THE NORTH SIDE

The equipment, new chairs, modern plumbing, and all the up-to-date accessories of a first class shop, have already been installed, and Mr. Arenz is hard at work getting things in shape for the opening. There will be two chairs in the new shop.

STATE TAKES OVER WILD LIFE REFUGE

BIRCHWOOD, Wis. — R. S. Scheibel, secretary of the state conservation commission, has announced that the 6,000 acres of land here now comprising the "Stout Wild Life Refuge" has been re-registered and re-established as a state wild life refuge for the five-year term ending January 16, 1928. Mr. Scheibel, in his announcement, stated that all provisions of law prohibiting hunting and trapping on the Stout refuge will continue in full force and effect.

The refuge is located immediately west of Birchwood and is one of the largest game reservations in the state. The land is a part of the great Stout holdings here and as a country estate is considered one of the show places of Wisconsin.

LAKE SUPERIOR ORE SHIPMENTS TOTAL 40 BILLION TONS

ASHLAND, Wis. — There was shipped from the five ore shipping ports of Lake Superior—Superior, Duluth, Two Harbors, Ashland, and Marquette—and Escanaba, a total of 42,613,184 tons of iron during the season of 1922. All this ore went by water to Lake Erie ports, south of Chicago, and a few cargoes to Canadian ports.

These figures constitute the bulk of the output on the Lake Superior iron mines, the Mesabi range in Minnesota, the Gogebic in Michigan and Wisconsin, and the Vermilion, Marquette, and Menominee ranges in the Michigan peninsula. The Lake Superior mines produce 80 per cent of the entire supply of the country. Ore production has increased enormously. It is twice that of 1900 and 20 times greater than that of 1860.

The Hookworm Conquered

Government officials who have been for years engaged in the study and elimination of the hookworm in the southern states have made the announcement that the malady has been conquered. The battle was inaugurated thirteen years ago in Richmond county, Virginia, which was regarded as the very center of the hookworm activity. The worldwide fight against the hookworm, which is now being waged, had its inception in that locality. In Richmond county after a few years' work the eighty-two per cent was reduced to thirty-five per cent and the next count showed that it had dwindled down to two per cent.

Blouin Averages 205 to Defeat Smith For Bowling Championship

By BILLY EVANS

In every sport, form plays a prominent part.

The great hitters in baseball have a similarity in style. There is the follow through motion, with the snap of the wrist as the ball meets the bat.

In golf, form again plays a prominent role. The great players have much the same style. They never fail to keep their eye on the ball, their swing is so perfect it almost seems mechanical. On the greens there is that deftness of touch which is so essential.

Gene Sarazen, the greatest golfer of 1922, frankly admits that he has shaped his game around the great players he has seen in action since his days as a mere caddy.

Sarazen Explains Style

Sarazen says that he has taken a leaf from the book of every golfer. He has selected the best features of the play of the really great golfers and profited thereby.

In bowling, form is as essential to success as in any other sport. If you have your doubts as to such a statement, take a careful look at the picture showing Jimmy Blouin of Chicago in action.

Blouin only recently finished a 60-game match with Jimmy Smith of Milwaukee. Blouin averaged 205 for the series. Smith was only a fraction of a pin behind.

Proper approach, eye on the pins, and a perfect follow through, are shown in the picture of Blouin.

BOWLING POINTERS—
FROM JIMMY BLOUIN
Hit the head pin.
Practice constantly for control.
Get your spares. They count big in the long run.
Don't get the impression that speed is necessary to pile up strikes.
Many of the game's greatest bowlers use a half-speed ball that gives the pins a chance to work.
Cultivate a good disposition if you are not fortunate enough to have one. Accept the tough breaks as a part of the game.
Splits are a part of bowling. You often get them on perfect hits.
Last but not least, keep your eye on the pins.

An Average of 205

Follow the style of Blouin if you would average better than 200 for 60 successive games.

In his match with Smith, Blouin again proved that he is a great money bowler. Trailing for the first 50 games, he came from behind, and in the final block of 10 games, overcame the handicap and finished 23 pins to the good.

The series was closely contested. Blouin's total for the 60 games was 12,300 while Smith had a mark of 12,277.

Blouin is generally regarded as the world's champion bowler. His victory over Smith gives him permanent possession of diamond trophy, emblematic of the championship.

BULLSEYES of BASEBALL

By BILLY EVANS
MOST UNUSUAL BATTING RECORD I EVER SAW.

WALT the pitcher out even so much as swing at a ball. He would step into the batter's box with his bat on his shoulder, and simply look them over.

On three occasions the count was three balls and two strikes when he Waiter Wilmet, the great outfielder of the old Chicago Nationals, achieved that distinction back in 1901. No other player in either major league has ever equaled it.

Five bases on balls in one game stands as the American league record, it being jointly held by five players.

Roger Peckinpaugh, of the Washington club, then with the New York Yankees, was the last player to turn the trick. It was back in 1919 at Philadelphia. I was umpiring the plate.

For a batsman to work a pitcher for five bases on balls is of the ordinary. However, the manner in which Peckinpaugh walked each time makes his feat stand out as just a little bit different.

I regard it by far as the greatest I have ever seen.

Peckinpaugh came to bat five times, and on no occasion was he called upon to sacrifice or hit. If I remember correctly he was the first man up in each inning.

Not once during that ball game with the Athletics did Peckinpaugh

WOULD GIVE THE CITY BIGGER SHARE IN AUTOMOBILE TAX

Change in Proposed Highway Financing Program Agreed Upon by State Officials

MADISON, Wis. — A change of importance affecting all cities of the state, is to be proposed in the highway financing program endorsed by county boards, of the state, it has been tentatively decided upon by highway officials. Reapportionment of returns from certain of the automobile taxes, is urged to give the municipalities a larger share.

The principal proposed change is in the highway privilege tax of two per cent which is estimated to produce $3,500,000 if enacted into law. Under the original plan $2,625,000 of this amount was to go to the state, $875,000 to the counties.

Now it is proposed and with strong backing, to turn $2,625,000 of the amount over to cities for street improvement purposes and give the counties $875,000, taking the state out as a beneficiary of the tax. This will meet most of the revenue losses sustained by the removal of the personal property taxes on automobiles, should the new tax plan be accepted.

There is also a likelihood that a large share of the $1,000,000 realized from the trunk taxes, under the proposed new plan, would go to the cities. These matters will be discussed at a meeting of the league of municipalities here this week.

COULD HARDLY BE CALLED A VIROQUA TEAM SAYS WESTBY

Westby Basketball Manager Says Sporting Editor Was Misinformed of Game

LA CROSSE AND RIVER FALLS MEN PLAYED WITH VIROQUA

Resent Statement that it Was "Viroqua" Team

Under the caption, "stolen honors," Willard Peterson, manager of the Westby basketball team, in a letter to the sporting editor of the Tribune and Leader-Press, seeks to throw some light on the statement in a recent story printed on the sporting page, "that the Viroqua basketball team defeated Westby on the Viroqua floor."

The Westby manager does not deny that his team was defeated but questions the part of the story which referred to their opponents as being the "Viroqua" team. He claims that "Hippo" Poscover of the La Crosse normal, and Thompson, of River Falls, played throughout the entire game and in view of this fact, wonders if the team should have been called "Viroqua."

"The letter to the Tribune is as follows: 'We are sorry to notice that the sporting editor of the La Crosse Tribune was misinformed as to the basketball team that defeated the Westby town team last Thursday evening.'

It is true that we played at Viroqua on that night. It is also true that we were defeated. However, with fellows like "Hippo" Poscover from La Crosse and Thompson from River Falls playing throughout the whole game, and another foreigner playing during part of the game, one could hardly call it the "Viroqua" team, saying nothing about the liberality of the referee's whistle during critical stages of the game. Poscover was easily the star of the game."

"We heartily sympathize with some fifteen or twenty Viroqua boys who came out to practice for this game; to think that the manager couldn't find five boys in this bunch he was willing to put on the floor, and there is one thing we will give him credit for; the respect he had for the ability of our team. The boys and fans were disgusted, themselves, or they would not have told us this."

"Westby defeated Cashton last week in a rather one sided game, but we will give them credit for playing their own team although they have had very little practice this season. Westby was defeated last Saturday evening by the Superior Red Devils, 24 to 20, in one of the prettiest games ever played on our floor. Yours very truly,

"WILLARD PETERSON."

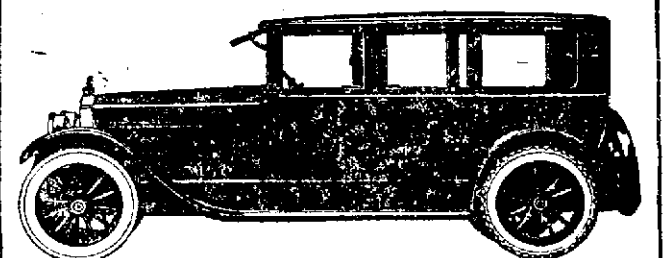

"Mr. Westby Town Team."

Varicose Veins Due to Inadequate Breathing

A medical authority in Europe claims to have discovered that varicose veins are the result of improper breathing. It is a fact demonstrated by investigation that this malady is more prevalent in a business community where the individuals are more or less confined than in the agricultural districts, which is taken to bear out the theories advanced by authority referred to above. In this disease, the little valves located at regular intervals along the length of the veins do not act efficiently and the blood is allowed to lag and stagnate which causes the painful swelling.

THE DANGEROUS AGE

Excellent drama is "The Dangerous Age," the attraction which began a three day engagement at the Rivoli Theatre yesterday. It is a masterpiece of realistic portrayal of American family life and decidedly one of the "bigger and better" pictures toward which all producers are striving. The audience which attended the opening performance gave vent to its approval by applauding vigorously when the last scene had faded away.

CASINO TODAY

Sometimes the small town boy who leaves his native village to go forth and conquer the world, succeeds. After a few years of adversity and hard knocks, he "busts" the market or marries the boss's daughter, or invents something profitable. Or if he has not been successful, he borrows enough to get himself a royal outfit in which to make his return, for only an "ex-small town" knows the humility and shame of going home broke.

George Ade, in his new Paramount picture for Thomas Meighan, "Back Home and Broke," which comes to the Casino theatre today, sees the side he would naturally see of such a story, and has his hero return home apparently broke. Lila Lee heads the supporting cast.

Paramount picture at the Riviera today are said to have been given added zest because of the fact one hundred beautiful bathing girls appearing therein were specially coached for the sequence by Duke Kahanamoku, speed swimmer.

When Director Wood found he was in the studio, the noted Hawaiian was pressed into service for several hours' intensive instruction of the bathing contingent.

"The Impossible Mrs. Bellew" is said to offer a real novelty in the vaudeville scenes. Conrad Nagel, a leading man.

"THE HOTTENTOT"

Marked development in the perfection of motion pictures, which originated when Maybridge at Stanford University called in the aid of twenty cameras to register the movements of a horse is aptly illustrated in the steeplechase scenes of Thomas H. Ince's latest racing comedy production, "The Hottentot."

The steeplechase was "shot" from every conceivable angle, beneath the ground, from airplanes, beside the course and in racing automobiles that followed the horses in their mad plunge.

RIVIERA WEDNESDAY

First Cecil discovered her, and then William, his brother, elected to continue her education. That is the story of Bebe Daniels' career in pictures, told in a single sentence.

If Bebe hadn't chanced to be dining in a certain restaurant on the particular night of the year that Cecil B. De Mille happened to dine there she might still be playing leads opposite Harold Lloyd. Now comes William de Mille with the claim that in "The World of Applause," which comes to the Riviera Theatre Wednesday the screen world is to see a new and even more talented actress.

"The World of Applause" is a story of the theatrical world written by Clara Beranger, and interpreted by a cast that is headed by Bebe Daniels and Lewis Stone.

The World's Largest Pier

Recent increase noted in the size and capacity of marine craft calls for some unusual methods of handling these boats and their cargoes. The world's largest pier is under construction at Hoboken, N. J., taking the place of piers which were destroyed fourteen months ago by fire. It is 1200 feet long with double deck and will cost $4,500,000.
